ATTORNEY GENERAL STANBERRY's last opinion on the Reconstruction Act will be found in our telegraphic columns. He holds that military commandants of Southern posts are placed there as conservators of the peace, to aid the civil authorities in the discharge of their duties; that the status of the latter has not been changed since the passage of the military act, nor have they been superceded by the military; that military officers have no power to decapitate civil ones, and much less to supply vacancies, no matter how created. In a nut shell, the Attorney General would make out of the military commanders a special police force, having no other duty to perform than to preserve the peace and protect citizens in their rights of person and property. Sustained by this opinion, in which the Cabinet is said to concur, the President will doubtless remove the intrepid Sheridan. In that event, Congress will probably hold an early session, to whom Sheridan can appeal to be righted and sustained.

THE Louisville City Council, during the last fiscal year, imposed heavy and onorous taxes on the citizens, to recover which a number of suits have been brought against the city. In his message to Councils Mayor Tomppert says:

"The amount of money thus illegally taken from citizens is alleged to be not much less than $100,000. The city charter, to guard against such illegal and excessive taxation, has limited the powers of said Council in assessing and levying taxes, and if any levy or expenditure of money by the General Council goes beyond the legal revenues of the current fiscal year it is not binding upon the city, her property or revenue, but is binding upon the members of the Council, who, being present, failed to record their votes against the same, and the Mayor who signed it."

LORD STANLEY was called upon in the English House of Commons, on Friday evening, to explain the exact nature of the Luxemburg treaty, the result of the London Peace Conference. Two of the members denounced him as guilty of conduct unworthy a statesman in having involved England in the Franco German dispute. He replied, but failed to show that England does not occupy an unknown position in the Luxemburg treaty. The continued war preparations going on in Germany, and the desire for war on the part of the French people, shadow the breaking of the peace compact, and England naturally wants to know where she will stand in that event.

THAD. STEVENS is out in a published letter, in which he advises a session of Congress to be held at the beginning of next month. He rebukes the Attorney General for erring in favor of the rebels in the opinions given on the Reconstruction Act, and charges him with assuming too much power when he sets up his discussions as binding. In short the "Old Commoner" thinks, and plainly says, that the Attorney General's opinion should carry no more weight or authority than that of any other man well versed in legal lore.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Boston Post, writing from New York, says that the cholera has really made its appearance in that city, although the physicians and Board of Health have combined to disguise the fact. He moreover asserts that the ship from Liverpool which last week reported thirty-four deaths on the way over, brought the cholera with it, and from that disease the passengers died.

THE fashionable watering places and country resorts will be poorly patronized this season. Money has not been accumulated so easily as to warrant its expenditure at the shrine of fashion. Then, again, most wealthy fashionables are in attendance at the Great Exposition and will hardly return during the heated term.

THE Philadelphia Select Council recently passed an ordinance providing for the erection of a number of new public buildings in Independence Square. The Common Branch non-concurred, on the ground that it would prove a useless expenditure of money to build at the present high prices for material and labor.

THE valiant Cretan insurgents have met with a sad reverse of arms at Lusette, where they were entrenched. After several engagements, the Turks dislodged them, killing and wounding five hundred of their number. The loss of the Turks was trifling in comparison.

IT is now definitely arranged that the forthcoming Pennsylvania Agricultural Society Fair will be held in Pittsburgh. The community at large are indebted to the exertions of a few energetic business men for the award in favor of this locality.

THE LUXEMBURG TREATY—LORD STANLEY'S COURSE IN THE PEACE CONFERENCE DENOUNCED—HIS DEFENSE.

NEW YORK, June 16.—The Herald has the following cable special: LONDON, June 14.—In the House of Commons this evening, Mr. Labouchere asked Lord Stanley, Secretary of Foreign Affairs, for information as to the exact nature of the Luxemburg treaty, lately concluded by the delegates of the Great Powers assembled in the Peace Conference in this city. In doing so, he denounced Lord Stanley's course, as the representative of Great Britain, in the Conference, as exhibiting no evidence of statesmanship, but as likely to involve the interests of the kingdom. In the rash form of intervention to the France-German matter, or its more direct consequences, he (Mr. Labouchere) entertained the belief that in the event of a war between France and Germany, the guarantee given in the conference would involve England in the quarrel.

Mr. Ayertown also condemned Lord Stanley's course in the conference, and inquired if England was absolutely bound to interfere by arms if Luxemburg should be attacked? If this was so, what became of the power of the Parliament in granting or withholding regular supplies for war purposes to the crown?

Lord Stanley, Secretary of State for foreign affairs, replied that the House of Commons had power to stop supplies, if it saw fit, and so decide whether the country should go to war or not. Lord Stanley set forth, in extenuation of his course in the London Conference, the defiant attitude maintained by France and Germany toward each other, and the danger of an impending war of great magnitude which then existed. Recapitulating his statement made to the House on the night the Luxemburg treaty was agreed to, Lord Stanley added: Had he then hesitated on the part of England to give his adhesion to the collective guarantee, the armies of France and Prussia would be now in the field, and all Europe involved in war. All the other nations as well as all parties in the country, would then have charged England as being the real author of the calamity. The Luxemburg Treaty, as signed in London, did not bind any power to interfere singly in the eventualities which may arise between France and Germany relative to the future of Luxemburg.

LENIENCY TO FENIANS.

LONDON, June 15.—In the House of Commons, this evening, Major Anson moved to reject a petition presented some weeks since from certain parties in Ireland Reform Leagues, and others, praying for the exercise of Executive leniency toward Fenian traitors condemned to death in Ireland, and also that the House cancel all mention of its character or reception from the journal of the record. The Major denounced the tone of the petition as calculated to incite to fresh acts of rebellion in Ireland, and denounced the paper itself as a slanderous insult to the British army. A lively discussion ensued, and Anson's motion was rejected.

Several engagements ensued at the place where the insurgents were entrenched, and the Turkish troops in the end dislodged the Christians, and thus secured the possession of the valley. Reports say the Cretans lost five hundred men, killed and wounded, and the Turks had only ten men killed and sixty wounded.

JULY SESSION OF CONGRESS.

Letter from Thad. Stevens.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Thaddeus Stevens has addressed the following letter to the editor of the Washington Chronicle:

LANCASTER, PA., June 13, 1867.

I think it is proper to suggest the propriety of having a quorum in Congress on the first proximo. The opinions of the Attorney General seem to require some explanatory or supplemental acts. I need not point out errors in favor of rebels, as there are many of them easily seen. For instance, it is provided that to be entitled to be registered requires one year's residence in the State. Every man can see that this means continued residence, immediately before election; but the Attorney General holds that the party may take nine months when he was a boy and three months now. Andrew Johnson, by going a month before the election to North Carolina, where he lived thirty years ago, could vote; so with regard to clerks, military and civil officers, and those holding Confederate offices while in rebellion. But I will not take time to criticise. A mistake more objectionable is the fact of usurpation by the Attorney General in acting at all on the question, and creating his decisions as binding. Officially the Attorney General has no more right to interfere than the President had to reconstruct, which pretension Congress has settled. Since it has been adjudged that the conquered States are to be created as subdued territory, and rebuilt, without reference to their former conditions, by the legislative power alone, it is to be supposed, that Congress alone, is to be appealed to in case of difficulty.

It is true, the Attorney General is too good a lawyer to pretend to act under the Constitution, as it is well decided that admitting new States, and, of course, rebuilding conquered territory, does not come within the provisions of that instrument. His opinion is just as good as any other good lawyer's, and no better. It is the attempt to treat it as official that is objectionable. When he rules what shall be evidence, if obeyed, he does great wrong. He has a fair excuse, however, under the invitation of commanding generals.

I have said this much with great reluctance, but finding my colleagues indifferent to the question, I have not been able to refrain. I fear lest it should be thought I obtrude my opinions too often in public matters, but my anxiety relative to re-construction must be my excuse.

With great respect, your obed't servant,
THADDEUS STEVENS.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Trial of Surratt—A Jury Sworn—Prisoner Pleads "Not Guilty."

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 15, 1867.

Judge Wylie again presided in the Criminal Court. Judge Fisher is still ill.

Mr. Carrington submitted objections to further proceedings to-day, on the ground that this term ends on Monday next, and that the Judge who is obliged to hold the present term is sick and not present, and that another Judge, to wit, Judge Carter, is assigned to the next term of this Criminal Court, and that, as the commencement of the impanelling a jury was by Judge Fisher, it is submitted by the District Attorney to be illegal to proceed before Judge Wylie to complete the impanelling of the jury in this case.

The Court overruled the objection, and Mr. Carrington excepted to the ruling.

The examination of talesmen proceeded, and finally a full jury was obtained, as follows: William B. Tod, J. B. Barr, Robert Ball, George A. Bahrer, Thomas Berry, C. C. Chenetlor, James Y. Davis, Columbus Alexander, William McLean, B. F. Morse, Benjamin Gilding, and Wm. Burtle.

The Court then adjourned to 10 o'clock to-night, to swear in the twelfth juror, the Judge agreeing to examine the law in the meantime to see if there were any legal objections to impanelling the jury.

The Court reassembled at 10 to-night. The jurors were called and the twelfth juror sworn, Judge Wylie having stated he was of opinion the jury must be impanelled. After a long dispute between the lawyers on the question of discharging the jury till Monday, the indictment was read, and the prisoner plead not guilty. By request of prisoner's counsel, and consent of the Government, the jury was allowed to separate till Monday morning, with an admonition to avoid conversation with anybody on the subject of this case.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION.

The National Intelligencer says it is understood in official circles that the Attorney General holds that State officers cannot be removed in virtue of judgment of military commissions by Southern military commanders. In respect to appointments to fill vacancies, however occasioned, he also holds the Reconstruction act, so called, contemplates an election by the people. It is scarcely necessary to add the President and Cabinet concur with the Attorney General in these views. The report telegraphed hence, that the President will not take any immediate action in reference to the removal of Gov. Wells by Gen. Sheridan, is at least premature, if not altogether unfounded.

It is understood that printed copies of Attorney General Stanberry's opinion in regard to the duties of military commanders have been sent hence to prominent papers in various sections, to be published on Monday. From conversation with gentlemen occupying official positions, it would seem that this opinion is a more valuable and interesting document than its predecessor, giving a summary of such persons in the Southern States as are and are not entitled to vote at the ensuing election.

The Attorney General, it is said, holds that the reconstruction acts provide for two governments, civil and military, both provisioned, to be obeyed by the people and continued until superceded by the recognition of the several State Governments, under the provisions of the law. The military commanders are to act as conservators of the peace, to suppress disorder, and to protect all the rights of person and property. They have no power to remove State officers, executive or judicial, and their rights, in common with those of all other persons, are to be respected. Not being authorized to remove, they, as a consequence, have no authority to appoint successors. In brief, they are not acting in the capacity of abrogators of the law, but as conservators of the peace.

Power of Military Commanders.

ATTORNEY GEN. STANBERRY'S OPINION.

The Provisional Governments Unchanged by the Reconstruction Act—Commanders Have No Power to Remove Executive, Judicial or Other Officers.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 16, 1867.

Attorney General Stanberry's opinion as to the power of military commanders starts out by a recital of the sections of the original act applying thereto. He says:

We see clearly enough that this act contemplates two distinct governments in each of the ten States. The military, the other civil. The civil government is recognized as existing at the date of the act. The military government is created by the act. Both are provisional, and both are to continue until a new State Constitution is framed, and the State is admitted to representation in Congress. When that event takes place, both these provisional governments are to cease. In the contemplation of this act, this military authority and this civil authority are to be acted on together. The people in these States are made subject to both, and must obey both in their respective jurisdictions. There is, then, an imperative necessity to define, as clearly as possible, the line which separates the two jurisdictions, and the exact scope of the authority of each.

Now, as to the civil authority, recognized by the act as the provisional civil government. It covered every department of the civil jurisdiction, in each of these States. It had all the characteristics and powers of a State government, Legislative, Judicial and Executive, and was in the full and lawful exercise of all these powers, except only that it was not entitled to representation as a State of the Union. This existing government is not set aside. It is recognized more than once by this act. It is not in any one of its departments, or any of its functions, repealed or modified by this act, save only in the qualifications of persons eligible to office, the manner of holding elections, and the mode of framing the Constitution of the States. The act does not in any other respect change the provisional government, nor does the act authorize the military authority to change it. The power of further changing it is reserved, not granted, and it is reserved to Congress, not delegated to the military commander. Congress was not satisfied with the organic law, or Constitution, under which the government was established. That Constitution was to be changed in only one particular to make it acceptable to Congress, and that was in the matter of the elective franchise. The purpose, the sole object of this act, is to effect that change, and to effect it by the agency of the people of the State, or such of them as are made voters by means of the elections provided for in the act, and in the meantime to preserve order and punish offenders, if found necessary, by military commissions. We are, therefore, not at a loss to know what powers were possessed by the existing civil authority. The only question is upon the powers conferred on the military authority. We see first of all that each of these States is made subject to the military authority of the United States, not to the military authority altogether, but with the express limitation as hereinafter prescribed. We must then examine what is thereinafter provided to find the extent and nature of the power granted. This, then, is what is granted to the military commander. This power is a duty to protect all persons in their rights of person and property and to suppress insurrection, disorder and violence, and to punish or cause to be punished all disturbers of the public peace and criminals, and he may do this by the agency of the Criminal Courts of the State, or, if necessary, he may have resort to military trials. This comprises all of the powers given to the military commander. Here is a general clause, making it the duty of the military commanders to give protection to all persons in their rights of person and property. Considered by itself and without reference to the [illegible] and to the other provisions of the act, it is likely, from its generality, to be misunderstood what sort of protection is here meant, what violations of rights of persons or of property are here intended, in what manner this protection is to be given. These questions arise, and it at once appears that some of the military commanders have misunderstood this grant of power, as all comprehensive, conferring upon them the power to remove the Executive and Judicial officers of the State and to appoint other officers in their places, to suspend the legislative power of the State, to take under their control officers appointed by themselves, the collection and disbursement of the revenue of the State; to prohibit the execution of the laws of the State by the agency of its appointed officers and agents; to change the existing laws in matters affecting purely civil and private rights; to suspend or enjoin the execution of the judgments and decisions of the established State Courts; to interfere in the ordinary administration of justice in the State Courts by prescribing new qualifications for jurors, and change, upon the ground of expediency, the existing relations of parties to contracts, giving protection to one party by violating the rights of the other party. I feel confident that these military officers in all they have done have supposed that they had full warrant for their action. Their education and training have not been of the kind to fit them for the delicate and difficult task of giving construction to such a statute as that now under consideration. They require instruction and nearly all of them have asked for instruction to solve their own doubts, and to furnish to them a safe ground for the performance of their duties. There can be no doubt as to the rule of construction, according to which we must interpret this grant of power. It is a grant of power to military authority over the civil rights of citizens in time of peace. It is a new jurisdiction, never granted before, by which, in certain particulars, and for certain purposes, the established principle, that the military shall be subordinate to the civil authority, is reversed. The rule of construction to be applied to such a grant of power is thus stated in Dwarris on statutes, page 652: "A statute creating a new jurisdiction ought to be construed strictly."

The Attorney General proceeds to the construction of the various portions of the act. The act does not give power to confer new rights, but only to protect those which exist and are established by the laws under which these people live. It is a power to preserve, not to abrogate, to sustain the existing frame of social order and rule, and not a power to introduce military rule in its place. It is given to meet the contingencies recited in the preamble of the want of adequate protection for life and property. This duty or power of protection is to be performed by the suppression of insurrection, disorder, violence, &c., and it is declared that all interference under State authority in the exercise of this military authority, shall be null and void. These special provisions touch no other department or function of the civil administration, save only its criminal jurisdiction, and even as to that, the clear meaning of this act is, that it is not to be interfered with by the military authority, unless when the necessity for such interference may happen to arise. The existing civil authority in all its other departments, legislative, executive and judicial, is left untouched. The Civil Rights act and Freedmen Bureau act, made ample provision for the protection of all merely civil rights, where the laws or Courts of these States might fail to give full, impartial protection. I find no authority any where in this act for the removal, by military commanders, of the proper officers of the State, either Executive or Judicial, or the appointment of persons to their places. Nothing short of an express grant of power would justify the removal or the appointment of such an officer. There is no such grant either expressed or equally implied. On the contrary the act clearly enough forbids it. The regular State officials, duly elected and qualified, are entitled to hold offices. They, too, have rights, which the military commander is bound to protect, not authorized to destroy. I find it impossible, under the provisions of this act, to comprehend such an official as a Governor of one of these States appointed to office by one of these military commanders. The law takes no cognizance of such an official, and he is clothed with no authority or color of authority. What is true as to the Governor, is equally true as to all the other legislative, executive and judicial officers of the State. Certainly the Act is rigorous enough in the power which it gives, and, with all its severity, right. Electing their own officers is still left with the people, and it must be preserved.

FROM JAPAN.

The Opening of Trade Arrangements—Voyage of the Colorado.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—The following official announcement is published in the Japan Herald of May 25th:

Legation U. S. Japan, Osaca, May 17th, 1867.—In pursuance to previous agreements, which have been duly confirmed in this city, the citizens of the United States are informed that Port Hiogo, and one on the west coast of Niphon, and also the cities of Yeddo and Osaca, will be opened on the 1st of January next. Ground for the purpose of residences and trade has been set apart at Hiago and Osaca, and soon similar arrangements for Yeddo and the port on the west coast will be completed. Notice is given accordingly.

R. B. VONVALKENBURG, Minister, etc.

H. M. S. Serpent has gone to survey the new port on the west coast, which is probably near the Province Banga.

Four vessels are at Hiago loaded with rice and coals for the Japanese, American, English, Dutch and French.

Queen Victoria's birthday was celebrated at Yokohomo by the British residents.

Doctor Hepburn has completed the Japanese dictionary, and the work is far in advance of anything of the kind yet attempted.

A severe earthquake was experienced at Nagasaki on the 5th of May, and another on the 14th. The unusual phenomena at that place caused great alarm.

Mr. Brown and C. Orkey, formerly of Don & Co., Shanghai, were seized and confined at a place called Sanboro, near Nagasaki. Through the intercession of the British Consul both were released.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—The Colorado, on the first part of her outward voyage, had heavy weather and strong westerly winds, after which she experienced fine weather the greater part of the time. She made the run from Yokohomo to Hong Kong in five and a half days. Three deaths occurred among the Chinese passengers outward.

PETROLEUM AS A FUEL.

Interesting Experiments by the Navy Department—Trial Trip of the United States Gunboat Palos in Boston Harbor.

[From the New York Times Correspondent.]

BOSTON, Friday, June 14, 1867.

During the past four weeks a series of very interesting experiments have been made with petroleum on board the United States gunboat Palos, lying at the Charlestown Navy Yard, for the purpose of testing the practical application of that combustible oil as a means of fuel. These experiments have attracted the attention of scientific men and others, but more especially the Navy Department, which some time since appointed a Board of Commissioners to test the use of crude petroleum as fuel.

The machinery employed in using the crude petroleum, from the time it leaves the tanks until it acts as fuel, is very simple, economical and durable. It has been described as follows: On the deck of the vessel are two large iron tanks filled with petroleum, and attached to these are common gas pipes, which supply the oil for the retort below. The retort is made of boiler iron, and in it is inserted a number of small pipes, which spread out in arms with perforations or openings for supplying 125 burners. The steam taken from the boiler is passed through a coil of iron pipe charged with iron filings, which are arranged so as to be exposed to the hottest part of the fire. The coil of iron pipe and filings, becoming red hot, decompose the steam, separating the oxygen and hydrogen, and as a natural consequence the gaseous components enter the retort and mingle with the vapor of the oil. By means of an air-pump atmospheric air is forced into the retort, at the same time the steam is decomposed, and mixes with the elements of the fire. These combined gases then escape into the furnace, igniting from the intense hot flame. During this chemical combination, the oil does not come in contact with the fire, but is run into the iron retort before alluded to, which is kept hot by a series of heaters underneath. The oil is only supplied as fast as it can be converted into vapor. The supply of steam and air and oil is graduated by means of small throttle valves, and the fire increased or diminished at will.

A good deal of interest was manifested by scientific men, engineers and others in the experimental trip of the Palos to-day. During the three months that the vessel had operated her machinery at the dock, the use of petroleum as fuel was considered a success, but the trip to-day was designed to demonstrate that with this new agent sufficient steam could be generated to propel the vessel through the water at a rate of speed greater than with the use of coal, and at a comparatively small expense. The Palos is a fourth-rate gunboat, with an engine of nominal capacity of 350 horse power. On her trial trip down Boston harbor when first built, the Palos used coal and and started with forty-five pounds of steam, which ran down to twenty pounds and made only eight miles an hour. The result to-day, with crude petroleum as a substitute for coal, is destined to work a revolution in the material employed for generating steam in boilers.

The Palos left her dock at the Navy-yard at ten o'clock, having on board the inventor of the new fuel and machinery for using the same. Three furnaces were used, and in a few minutes after leaving the wharf the indicator marked forty pounds of steam, and as the vessel steamed by the wharves and shipping that amount was maintained. Nearing Governor's Island, the Palos, though a propeller, was observed to gain rapidly on the pleasure side-wheel steamer Clipper, which had started out some time previously. The first three miles were accomplished in twelve minutes, or at the rate of twelve knots an hour, which was even now better speed than the vessel had ever reached with coal, or running four miles faster than her usual average speed.

At this point of the trip an invitation was extended to descend to the fire-room. Here were found two men doing the work of eight persons, and in the place of ashes and dust were cleanliness and ventilation. To the surprise of old firemen the floor was carpeted. A second observation showed that the gunboat had moved 11½ miles in forty-eight minutes, or at the rate of fourteen miles an hour, fairly outdoing herself and surprising the most ardent believers in petroleum fuel. While going at this rate steam was constantly increasing.

Boston Light reached, the steamer's head was turned toward the city, and after a delightful sail among the islands, the Navy-yard wharf was reached in one hour and fifty-five minutes, during which time the Palos had steamed twenty-five nautical miles and generated steam more rapidly toward the end of the trip than at the start. The fires were extinguished almost instantaneously. Less than four barrels of petroleum did the work ordinarily accomplished by six or eight tons of coal, and it was demonstrated in the most [illegible] and satisfactory manner that [illegible] had been gained which adds fifty per cent. to the speed of steam vessels without altering the existing machinery.

In a few weeks the United States gunboat Leyden, an exact counterpart of the Palos and a coal burner, will make an excursion down the harbor in company with the Palos for the purpose of demonstrating the inferiority of coal as compared to the economy and superiority of petroleum as fuel.

It was agreed on all sides that the day had inaugurated an important era in the history of ocean navigation.

The Palos was regarded as one of the slowest gunboats in the navy, but the event of to-day has proved her one of the fastest, notwithstanding chief engineers inside and outside of the navy look with distrust upon petroleum fuel, and remark the machinery for applying it as dangerous. Scientific men regard the result so significant that the facts were telegraphed this evening to Europe, where similar experiments are being made in English and other dock yards.

WIT AND HUMOR.

—A good story is told of a fellow at a cattle show, who was making himself ridiculously conspicuous, by an evident intention of finding fault with everything. At last he burst forth with, "Call these here prize cattle? Why, they ain't nothing to what our folks raised. My father raised the biggest calf of any man round our parts!" "I don't doubt it," was the timely remark of a bystander, "and the noisiest." The forward youth, as may well be imagined, incontinently subsided.

—Two fast young men, just returning home after a night's carousal, saw the sun rising. One of them insisted it was the sun, the other that it was the moon. They agreed to leave it to the first man they met. He also had been out on a lark. "Excuse me, sir, but my friend and I have made a little bet whether that's the sun or the moon that's now rising, and we've agreed to have you decide the matter." "Fact is, gentlemen, I should be very happy; but, you see, I am a stranger in the city, and been out all night."

—A Dutchman from the profane city of Rotterdam, but at present residing in Hoboken, recently took occasion, "as it were," to kill his dog, the dog having killed one of his sheep. After shooting him until he was extremely defunct, our Teuton took a club and commenced beating the brute's brains out. Neighbor Smith came along, and asked:

"What are you pounding the dog for? Don't you see he's dead?"

"Yes," answered Hootzensweitzer, "but I means to let him know that there's a hereafter!"

—A member of the bar once entered the Court of Appeals of New York while a counsellor was arguing an important case. "Who is that gentleman addressing the Court?" said he, speaking to Charles O'Connor, who was sitting near him. "That, sir, is Daniel Lord, Junior, and he puts on the 'Junior' so that he may not be mistaken for the Lord Almighty." It may be inferred that these two professionals resembled neither Damon and Pythias, nor Jonathan and David, in their affection for each other.

—At the ball given by Lord Cowley, in Paris, recently, the Empress Eugenie was in white and wore six rows of large diamonds round her neck. The same ornaments were festooned in her hair. In dress, tulle, especially white, was the striking feature; but all robes were differently trimmed, although with about the same materials and precious stones. If the same truth must be said, says a correspondent, the dresses were made of nothing but trimming, and that mostly of leaves which entwined round the skirts and glistened all over with what is called a diamante preparation. It is crystal reduced to powder and adhered to either crape or artificial leaves. The effect is lovely. Other robes were but foundations for jewels to shine on. Some were all lace, with very long trains. The prettiest were vaporous waves of lightest blue haze.

—The French and English postal authorities have under consideration the establishment of an international system of money-orders between their respective countries. The idea appears to be a good one, and might probably be extended to the United States to meet the wants of emigrants who are constantly sending money to the old country. So long as the government insists on carrying the mails, it may as well do it thoroughly.

Watch Presentation and Banquet at the St. James Hotel.

A watch presentation and banquet took place Saturday evening at St. James Hotel, opposite the Union Depot, given by the employees in the Pittsburgh car shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to Robert S. Ramsey, general foreman of the establishment, as a token of their esteem for him as a gentleman and mechanic. The watch was a splendid American lever, manufactured by Wm. E. Stevenson, of Liberty street, this city, of eighteen carat gold, to which was attached a massive gold chain sixteen carats fine, the two costing over three hundred dollars. The initials R. S. R. were neatly engraved on the back, and on the inner side of the case was the following inscription: "Presented to Robert S. Ramsey, Foreman Pittsburgh Car Shops, by his fellow-workmen, June 15th, 1867."

The presentation took place in the dining room of the St. James. After the guests, one hundred and twenty-five in number, had assembled around the "festal board," which was groaning beneath the weight of edibles upon it, Mr. Robert Pitcairn, Superintendent of the Western Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, called the assembly to order, and Mr. Louis R. Guinn, an employee in the car shop, on behalf of the donors, presented the watch in a neat and appropriate address, to which Mr. Pitcairn, on behalf of Mr. Ramsey, replied in a very eloquent manner, after which the company were seated and proceeded to discuss the "good things" that had been prepared for them. After supper came the wine, when a number of toasts were given and replied to. The party then adjourned to an upper chamber, where an hour was pleasantly passed by singing songs and repeating "side-splitting" jokes, after which they quietly dispersed.

The supper was one of the finest we have ever had the good fortune to partake of, and certainly reflected great credit on the worthy host, Mr. Lanahan, who personally superintended its preparation and the arrangement of the table.

Lawrenceville Street Improvements.

In the Quarter Sessions Court, Saturday, on petition of the Burgess and Town Council of the borough of Lawrenceville, Messrs. J. J. Wainwright, Holland Riddle, Thomas Barrett, Michael Berger, Alexander Worth, John Smith and Michael Heibling, "seven disinterested free-holders," were appointed viewers to assess the damages and benefits arising by the opening of certain streets in accordance with the provisions of an act of Assembly, approved April 11th, 1867. The streets to be opened and widened are as follows:

1. Valley street, a uniform width of thirty from Covington to Bellfontaine street, fifty feet from Bellfontaine street, and thirty feet from Shoenberger to Jackson street.
2. Washington street, a uniform width of fifty feet from Bellfontaine to Jackson street.
3. Division street, a uniform width of forty feet from Covington to Bellfontaine street, and fifty feet from Bellfontaine to Shoenberger street.
4. Sherman street, a uniform width of —— feet from St. Mary's avenue to Bellfontaine street.
5. Shoenberger street, a uniform width from McCullough to Waler street on the Allegheny river.
6. Bates alley, a uniform width of twenty feet from Locust alley to North street.

Tobacco.

Nearly everybody is interested in tobacco for nearly everybody either chews, smokes or takes snuff—of course we except the gentler sex. We have no sermon on the subject, but simply desire calling attention to the special announcement that the well known and extensive tobacco dealers, R. & W. Jenkinson, No. 6 Federal street, Allegheny, are in receipt of a large invoice of the choicest brand of Louisville Navy tobacco in packages of quarters and tens. This is believed to be the finest as well as among the largest importation of this favorite quality of tobacco received for a long time past in this neighborhood. Dealers will be supplied at manufacturers' rates, which will prove very advantageous to them as purchasers. The Messrs. Jenkinson have long occupied a front rank in their business, and have in store one of the finest assortments of tobacco, snuff and cigars to be found in either city. They only deal in the purest weed and their brands are favorably recognized amongst all dealers conversant with the business. In their retail department will be found a fine stock of fragrant cigars, prime smoking and chewing tobacco, all the favorite brands of snuff, and an endless variety of pipes, tubes, pouches, cigar cases and the almost innumerable fancy goods peculiar to a first class tobacco store. Wholesale and retail dealers are invited to give them a call. Remember the place, No 6 Federal street, Allegheny city.

Death of Young Chesley.

Young Chesley, son of Mr. Chesley, mail agent on the Hempfield Railroad, who was recently mistaken for a burglar and shot, died on Friday night last, at 11 o'clock, at Washington, Pa., sixteen days after he was shot, and near the same hour of the night. He was conscious to the last, and when past speaking, could still make himself understood by signs. His last request was that no post mortem examination should be made. He seemed to have a singular horror of this from the first. When he was first shot, he expected to live but a short time, and he entreated that he might not be cut up after he was dead. Although it was never mentioned to him by any one, this idea seems to have oppressed him all the time, and he repeatedly made the request, with great earnestness, even down to his latest articulate moments, that no examination should be made for the ball after he was dead. Nevertheless it was thought the formalities of the law will compel an examination. A Coroner's Jury was impannelled Saturday morning. Whether an examination will take place or not will depend on whether the physicians will be willing to testify to the cause of the young man's death without it.

New Dry Goods Store in Allegheny.

To-day a new first-class dry goods store will be thrown open to the public in Allegheny, at No. 100 Ohio street, by Mr. S. C. Hess. The stock has been selected with much care and embraces choice and fashionable selections of dress goods of all descriptions, from the finest silk to the plainest and prettiest of calicos and chintzes. Ladies will here find everything to suit them at very reasonable and inducing prices. A fine assortment of shawls will also be found, suitable for Summer wear. For men's clothing, a large selection of cassimeres, cloths and jeans are offered at prices as cheap as can be procured any where in the two cities. The notion departments will be well supplied, and upon the whole for retail patrons or wholesale buyers this new store will offer superior advantages. Mr. Hess has had large business experience, and we cheerfully commend him to our readers as a gentleman of integrity, and one in every respect worthy a large share of the public trade.

A First Class Barber Shop.

We direct the attention of our readers to a really first class barber shop in our sister city Allegheny, at No. 190 Federal street, of which Mr. H. B. Williamson is the enterprising and accommodating proprietor. It contains six chairs, and in addition to the proprietor, five gentlemanly barbers, who are recognized amongst the very best in the profession, are constantly in attendance to wait upon patrons. In connection with the saloon is a well kept and orderly bath house with five of the most improved baths for hot, cold or shower bathing. Mr. Williamson has been twenty years in the business, and knows how to conduct it in good style and in a manner calculated to win him friends and customers. He attends promptly and in the most scientific manner to cupping and leeching. We commend Mr. Williamson to our Allegheny friends as a clever and honorable business gentleman.

Singular Death—Inquest.

Sunday, Coroner Clawson was summoned to No. 75 Logan street, Sixth ward, to hold an inquest on the body of James Somers, there residing, said to have died under circumstances considered singular and worthy of investigation. Somers, it appears, was at Fariview, on the Allegheny, some ten miles above the city, and was taken sick suddenly on Friday night last, the Doctors treating him for a derangement of the bowels. He grew worse, and Saturday afternoon died, a brother sent for arriving before he breathed his last. Dr. G. L. McCook was notified to make an examination, and the Coroner impannelled a jury to meet this afternoon at four o'clock, at Devore's, Grant street, to hear the evidence in the case. Deceased was twenty-six years of age, and leaves a wife and two children.

The Glorious Fourth.

The great national festival, under the management of Jones, Matthias & Company, which will be held in Union Park, Allegheny, on the Fourth of July, promises to be one of the greatest exhibitions ever gotten up in this city. So novel and extensive an entertainment has never before been projected, and so unique a celebration of Independence day will doubtless induce our citizens generally to participate in it. The balloon wedding will be one of the most interesting features of the day, and if applications continue to be as numerous as they have been recently, the managers will find it difficult to procure a sufficient number of balloons to tie the nuptial knot. The ticket office will be opened on Thursday next, at No. 75 Fifth street.

Destructive Fire in East Birmingham.

The glass house of O'Hara & Robinson, in East Birmingham, with its contents, was totally destroyed by fire on Saturday night between eleven and twelve o'clock. It is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary, as the fires have been out for over seven weeks, and there had been no fire in any part of the building, except the pot house, which is located at the side of the building, and from which the fire could not have possibly originated, as it broke out in the centre of the main structure. The loss is estimated at $75,000, partially covered by insurance in the following companies: Western, $11,000; Monongahela, $10,000; Artizans, $10,000; Merchants and Mechanics, $10,000, and Enterprise, $5,000. The first five are Pittsburgh companies, and the Enterprise is of Cincinnati.

What is Dr. Keyser's Blood Searcher?

To answer this question, and to detail the superlative merits of this preparation, would require more space than is ordinarily allowed to most newspaper paragraphs. Suffice it to say, however, that DR. KEYSER'S BLOOD SEARCHER is one of the greatest tonics known. It will place the most enfeebled stomach in a digesting condition and will enable it to convert the food taken into it into proper nourishment for the renewal of the whole organism. Everyone of common sense knows that it is in the proper working of the stomach that the first and most important branch of digestion takes place. When it is disordered the whole animal economy feels the shock, and that shock is imparted to every sentient extremity. Aching, heavy feelings are the inevitable concomitants which are well known to every dyspeptic invalid. The gloomy forebodings of the mind go to show that the body is not the only sufferer. The mind lacks its wonted vigor; the will droops and every function is lazy in the performance of its accustomed duty; the blood is charged with noxious material; the liver will not filter the bile from the blood; the kidneys no longer drain off the hurtful elements which taint the blood and fill every fibre and nerve and muscle with aches and rheumatism and neuralgia. DR. KEYSER'S BLOOD SEARCHER has cured these conditions more than a thousand times. It was by placing the system in the health condition that it cured Mr. Boyd, of 313 Liberty street, of an intractable and painful scrofula, which had resisted every other remedy. He has been well now for over four years, the very picture of robust health and vigorous action. It is now curing John Fitzell, of No. 4 Chestnut street, Allegheny, of a disease of the bone and has enabled his system to discharge from the diseased leg as much as a handful of carious and loose bones. He is now the image of ruddy health and is able to go and see the doctor without much trouble, and all without any cutting or scraping of the bone. It cured Margaret McFarland, of Cliff street, after nine years of suffering with her whole body covered with sores and her feet in so ulcerated and diseased a state that for nine years she could not wear shoes on her feet. It cured David Kinndley of almost total blindness. It cured Jane Morgan of a malignant cancer, after she had been discharged from three hospitals as incurable, and after it had eaten off her nose and part of her cheek and neck. It cured Elliott Davis of piles of eighteen years duration. These cures are all of unexceptionable characters, and most of them in and about Pittsburgh. We put the question to any one of common sense, if ever there has been sold or made in Pittsburgh or elsewhere, a medicine that has made such extraordinary cures! If there is, we have never heard of it, and therefore feel disposed to rank DR. KEYSER'S BLOOD SEARCHER the highest in the scale of modern medicines for every disease when the blood is impure or where the human system is intended to be brought up to the highest standard of health and vigor. Ask for DR. KEYSER'S BLOOD SEARCHER, and look for his name on the wrapper, and take no other; at 140 Wood street, Pittsburgh. $1 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00. Sold by all druggists everywhere. Consultation rooms for all skin and blood diseases and for lung diseases, 120 Penn street, from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m.

Perjury.

Julia Warren was held in three hundred dollars bail for her appearance at Court, by Alderman McMasters, to answer a charge of perjury, on oath of Jennie F. Hunter. This case originated out of the "Poplar alley" difficulty we mentioned on Saturday. Julia made application for an attachment for a witness, swearing that Alderman Lynch had read the subpena to the witness, which appears not to have been the case. Several witnesses were examined, and among the number Alderman Lynch, who swore that he did not open the subpena, but that he repeated the contents to the witness.

The Goldrich Homicide—One of the Accused Admitted to Bail.

In the Court of Quarter Sessions, Saturday, before Judge Stowe, on application of Messrs. T. M. Marshall and John M. Kirkpatrick, his counsel, Victor G. Kellar, one of the parties accused of killing the young man Goldrich, in Allegheny, last week, was admitted to bail in the sum of ten thousand dollars for his appearance for trial.

The Coroner's Jury in the case will meet to-morrow, when, with the additional testimony expected, they will likely come to a conclusion and render a verdict.

Appealed to the Law.—Before Justice J. F. Heisel, of Birmingham, on Saturday, came John Shirley, who made information against Fred. Haldeman for surety of the peace. Shirley alleges that he threatened to whip and otherwise insulted him. He also threatened to whip his wife. Shirley also made information against Harry Shafer for assault and battery. He says that Shafer struck his infant daughter with a stick. The parties reside in "Dutchtown," Mifflin township. A warrant was issued, they were arrested, and settled the cases between themselves.

Death of an Estimable Lady.—We are pained to announce the death of Mrs. Mary H. wife of Jacob F. Slagle, Esq., City solicitor, which took place yesterday morning at the residence of her husband, Fifth street. Went to Sleep in a Coffin.—On Friday night a gentleman while passing along Spring alley, in the rear of Algeo's furniture ware-rooms, discovered a person in a coffin. On further inspection he was found to be not dead but asleep. The gentleman very carefully covered him with a coffin box and left him to his peaceful slumbers. On looking for him in the morning he was found to have crawled from under the box and "vamoosed."

Glittering Teeth.—Not only does Sozodont impart the whiteness of the purest porcelain to the teeth, but its polish, too. They glisten, after being brushed with it, like the inner surface of an ocean shell, and the effect of this peerless dentifrice is to render the enamel as hard and indestructible as adamant. mwf.

THE STATE CONVENTION.

The Republican State Convention will meet at Williamsport on the 26th day of the present month. It will have only one nominee to bring forward, and that a candidate for a seat on the bench of the Supreme Court, to take the place of Chief Justice WOODWARD, whose term of service will soon close.

Several lawyers, residing in the central counties, have been named in connection with this nomination. All of them are men of excellent personal character and of good standing in the legal profession. Two or more of them are decidedly eminent both for abilities and experience. Some of them, however, are already too far advanced in years to make it prudent to put them in an important public position, with a full term of fifteen years to serve. It is possible the eldest of them might live beyond that period, retaining mental and physical faculties to so large a degree as to be useful to the end; but this is not probable. It will be much safer to take a younger man of equal capacities and attainments, and commanding in as full a degree the confidence of the bar and the public. Such an one is presented in the person of the Hon. H. W. WILLIAMS, and we have strong hopes he will be selected. The western counties are for him with a unanimity not often witnessed hitherto in behalf of any gentleman; and this is as much a testimonial to his personal worth and professional acquirements as to the right of the western portion of the Commonwealth to furnish the candidate.

A still more delicate and arduous duty devolving upon the Convention will be the construction of a Platform. The country has fallen upon a period of transition. The crisis carries with it all individuals and all parties, however much they may reluctate and hold back. The issues are not what they were, and to pretend they are, by any form of words, would simply be to insult the intelligence of the people. The Republican party was organized on the principle of resisting the extension of slavery. Unquestionably this recognized the doctrine that slavery was morally wrong and politically inexpedient; but the right to abrogate it where it existed, or even to regulate it, was not affirmed. The Republican party was hedged in by the Constitution, and had no other thought than to meet its obligations under that instrument without flinching. Doubtless a feeling pervaded its members that if the pound of flesh nominated in the bond was to be given, there was no concession of the right to take a drop of blood with it; and that if the strictness of the letter was insisted upon in behalf of slavery, a rigid construction should be enforced for the benefit of Freedom. The war instituted not by the republicans but by the democrats, took Slavery out from under the protection of the Constitution, and left it exposed to be dealt with under the war power, which knows no limitations except the public necessities. The abrogation of Slavery demolished the Platform in which the Republican party started and upon which it was its purpose to stand to the end. It did not destroy or impair the sentiment out of which that Platform grew, which was opposition, not only to human bondage, but to all practical inequalities of political rights among men.

The emergency naturally made the next issue; which was to support the government in a vigorous prosecution of the war for the preservation of the Union. The success of the Union cause was the perpetual defeat of Slavery, while the triumph of the Confederacy was moral certain to result in the re-establishment of Slavery. While the outward expression of the issue was changed, its essential essence was not modified. The Union had come to symbolize Freedom; the flag to represent Liberty.

The rebellion being crushed, the issue could no longer remain what it had been. No war existed to prosecute vigorously in behalf of national unity. It was next in order to see how the Union could best be reconstructed, so as to make it lasting, and to guard with impartial vigilance the rights of all, North and South, white and black. This is the issue now before us. In whatever words it may be defined, it is, in substance, the old question of Liberty for each and for all.

In what form shall the Convention recognize it? In what words set it forth? There are timid and weak-kneed Republicans who think it best to dodge, to equivocate, to palter. They think more of being successful, than of planting themselves on the right ground, and taking the chances. Our sympathies do not run that way. Unquestionably there is wisdom to be exercised in a political campaign as well as in a martial one. There is a time to charge, and a time to retreat. Sometimes a victory comes sooner by a "masterly inactivity," than by the most vigorous assault. Hence, while for many years we have been ready for Universal Suffrage—for black and white, for male and female—and are so on record, we have not inclined to precipitate action. Now, we think the time has come to demand it. Surely, while we are enforcing black suffrage at the South, and upon an unwilling people, we ought to demonstrate that we do not do so in the way of insult, and that we enjoin on them no more than we ourselves accept. So much on the national side of the case.

On the State side, we think it incumbent on the Williamsport body to pledge itself and the party unreservedly for the convocation of a Constitutional Convention. Defects exist in the administration of the affairs of the Commonwealth too grievous to be borne. The people are justly restive and impatient. They demand redress, and will have it. Half-measures will not meet the case. No confidence is felt that the Legislature, within a reasonable period, will initiate such changes in the organic law as can alone reach the malady complained of, and eradicate. A body of men chosen for that special work by the people, and having no immediate or prospective selfish ends of their own to attain, are alone competent to deal effectually with this matter. The Republican party has been in the ascendancy for a number of years, and hence is mainly responsible for the condition of the State affairs. It is popularly held, perhaps, to a larger measure of responsibility than it ought to be; for a greater portion of democratic votes in the two Houses are commonly on the wrong side, and under circumstances giving rise to suspicions of corruption, than of republican votes. The democrats have hitherto, for a long time, been unable to call a Constitutional Convention, if they were inclined to, which they are not. The power has been in the hands of the republicans. If they refuse to use it, they must be prepared to assign reasons for the refusal, and such reasons as will satisfy the people.

Then there is the question of a General Railroad Law. The party gave certain pledges last year that were not redeemed. We are not disposed to be captious on this head, or to allow captiousness in others. It does not often happen that the first time an issue of this sort is joined that the measure is carried. Frequently it turns out that several successive attempts end in defeat. It will be well for the Convention to commit the party in decided terms to Freedom in Railroad Building, provided its members shall be of that way of thinking; not otherwise. Little patience have we, with humbug or claptrap, especially on a question of serious magnitude, such as this. If the Convention shall declare for a Constitutional Convention it will not matter materially whether it gives a pledge of a Free Railroad Law or keeps silence. Give the people the Constitutional Convention, and they will take good care of their interests, on this as on other topics.

One encouraging symptom is apparent. The Convention will embrace an unusual number of members of experience, talent and earnestness.

BOILER EXPLOSIONS.

The recent terrible boiler explosion in Philadelphia, which resulted in the loss of many precious lives, will not prove barren of good fruits. It is an undeniable fact that in all the larger cities of the country, not even excepting our own, are hundreds of ricketty, worn out, old boilers in the keeping of men and boys who do not understand the first principle of their business, and who are in no manner worthy to be called engineers. Unless constantly watched and guarded these boilers are liable, at any moment, to make a heavenward trip, carrying death and demolition of property in their trail. The danger is continual and imminent; almost as much to the pedestrian on the street, or the merchant in his office, as to those employed in the immediate vicinity of the boiler. A few years ago a boiler of huge proportions in a manufacturing place in the heart of this city, was left in the charge of a young man entirely ignorant of the duties of an engineer. It exploded, and sped its way several hundred feet, partially demolishing the building in which it had been located, crossed the thoroughfare, pierced its way through a brick house, killing the proprietor, and finally buried itself in a grave yard adjoining. Four or five lives were lost by the explosion and the only wonder was that more did not suffer. At the time the subject of dangerous boilers received attention from our citizens, and reform was agitated. Nothing was ever done. When the terrible accident ceased to be a topic of conversation, the reformists rested from their labors, again to be renewed, we presume, when Pittsburgh shall have another terrible boiler catastrophe to record.

In Philadelphia, however, the subject has received marked attention, and has found its way into the City Councils. An ordinance has been framed providing against, in a large measure, the recurrence of future accidents, such as that which has brought sorrow and mourning to so many households in that locality. It provides for the appointment of a skilled and practical Inspector, and four assistants, whose duty it shall be to inspect annually every boiler used in the city limits. We quote: The examination is to be made with reference to the following particulars: 1. The setting. 2. The form and construction. 3. Thickness and kind of plates employed. 4. Their apparent condition as regards imperfections, wear or injury. 5. In all new boilers he shall require that each sheet shall be stamped with its maker's name and the quality of material, in accordance with the inspection laws of the United States for steamboats. He shall also inspect the feeding apparatus, together with the various attachments required to be placed on the boilers and their pipe connections.

He shall also test each boiler by hydrostatic test, to a pressure one-third (1-3) greater than that at which the boiler is to be used as specified in his certificate. In case the inspection proves satisfactory, the Inspector shall furnish a certificate to that effect, which certificate shall state the maximum pressure at which the boiler shall be worked, and such other conditions as he shall deem essential to the safety and competency of the engine and boiler.

If at any time the Inspector shall deem the engine driver incompetent and unreliable, he may withhold or withdraw his certificate.

The Inspector shall notify in writing the user or users of any engine or boiler that he will within ten days of the date of such notice, inspect the same, and the user or users may select such day for the inspection as may be most convenient within the time so designated.

The Inspector shall examine into the cause of all disasters and explosions occurring to engines and boilers within the limits of the city of Philadelphia, and shall promptly report the same to the Mayor and Councils.

There shall be for each boiler or series of boilers at least one efficient feeding apparatus, and in case there is but one such apparatus, and it be worked by an engine employed for other purposes, this feeding apparatus shall be of such character and construction that it can be examined and repaired in all its parts while the engine is in motion.

Each boiler shall have upon it three gauge cocks, and in addition thereto some visible means of indicating the water level. Every boiler when fired separately, and every set or series of boilers when placed over one fire, shall have attached thereto, without the interposition of any other valve, two or more safety valves, one of which shall be a "lock-up," to be under the control of the Inspector, the aggregate area of which shall have such relations to the area of the grate and the pressure within the boilers as is expressed within the schedule attached to the ordinance; and every safety valve shall have an arm or lever distinctly notched and marked with 5 lb. or 10 lb. divisions, and shall have but one P or ball for a weight; and the arm shall not have greater length than will allow the P to be placed so as to produce on the boiler the maximum pressure which the certificate authorizes to be carried.

There shall be for each boiler or series of boilers connected in one range at least one good and reliable steam pressure guage attached, without the intervention of any valve except its own.

Every range of boilers over one fire shall be so connected by steam and feed pipes that an uniform level of water may be maintained therein.

A Terrible Tumble.

The Academy of Music was last night crowded as usual to witness the daring performances of the Japanese troupe. The side boxes, private boxes and orchestra stalls were filled with representatives of the most fashionable circles in the city. And the troupe themselves performed their feats in the most surprising manner. The butterflies were made to seem as if life were in them, and the tops spun round as beautifully and gracefully as ever. "All Right" ascended his ladder and descended at right angles against it with his usual ease, and ascended and descended as if gravitation were unknown within the borders of his nation. The little Jap femme produced her roll of ribbons, and turned them beautifully into a tropical umbrella, and the gentleman Jap on the slack tight-rope did his business to perfection, and lay down on the cord easy enough to remind one of the individual who slept cosily on a clothes line. Little "All Right" then appeared for the second time, and mounted a ladder at least thirty feet high, from which extended at right angles a pole about ten feet in length, over which he walked with great ease; from this pole hung another ladder eight or ten feet long, and "All Right" descended it, and performed his exploits with all ease and grace. He then retraced his steps and attached himself to a trapeze, when the ladder which has been ballanced on the feet of an upturned Japanese was withdrawn, and All Right was hoisted to the ceiling of the Academy, just at the extreme head of the drop curtain. From this point runs a rope describing an angle of forty-five degrees with the second tier, where it is tightened by a strong rope fastened by a strong iron hook to the floor of this portion of the house. When All Right is hoisted to the top of curtain he suspends himself from the aforesaid rope, and by means of a small box running on rollers descends to the second tier. In doing this last night, and when midway on the rope, he fell to the aisles between the seats in the lower portion of the Academy—a fall of nearly forty feet. Every one in the Academy was watching the progress of this daring feat, so that there was scarcely a person in the house at the time but did not witness the occurrence. Those in the parquette were really paralyzed with terror, while the ladies in the side and front boxes gave expression to their feelings by screams and moans, and many of them were noticed to faint. The Japanese rushed from the stage to help and convey away their little countryman; the band stopped playing. All Right, insensible and bleeding, was taken away, and the stage curtain dropped on a scene unexpected and regretted, and told the public that for the evening the performance of the Japanese Troupe was brought to a close. Little All Right is again all right, being but little injured by his terrible tumble.—New York World.

A Fearful Leap—How a Chicago Merchant Attempted Suicide by Jumping From a Railroad Car Into the Hudson River.

Miracles will never cease. The man who jumped from the Cincinnati express train on the Hudson River Railroad yesterday morning, and who it was supposed was instantly killed, is alive and comparatively "as well as he ever was in the whole course of his life." I visited him to-day at Stockport, and from him obtained the following statement:

My name is Charles Lampkin. I am a resident of Chicago. I formerly kept a Yankee notion store there on the corner of Clark and Michigan streets. When I sold out my business my family went on a visit to Europe. I then moved to 138 South Clark street. I left Chicago early this week to go to New York, intending to take the steamer from there to Europe, where I was to meet my family and return with them to the United States. When I started I had $3,000 in money with me, and had also a satchel and a trunk. While traveling on the Western roads I noticed several Chicago thieves in the same car with me, watching me closely. I am satisfied that they meant to rob me. When I got on the Hudson River Railroad they watched me even more closely. I became very much alarmed, and was afraid they would do violence. I offered one of them $50 if they would let me alone. I knew they meant to rob and kill me. Becoming more alarmed I determined to take the chances and jump from the train, concluding that I had better run the risk of being killed in jumping than to be killed on the cars. Having been used to getting off and on the street cars in Chicago, I thought I could land from the train in safety. [The conductor states that at the time the occurrence took place the train was going at a high rate of speed.] I stepped down on the lower step and looked out in the darkness for a place to jump, and then leaped. I think I tumbled the distance of half a block. When I came to my senses I was hanging over a fence; my head and arms on one side and my legs on the other. Becoming conscious, I groped about in the dark till I found my hat, and then walked two miles to this place. I have the check for my trunk and have also all of my money. I feel a little sore, but nothing more.

A physician who attended him to-day states that he may be injured internally, but he showed no symtoms of any hurts. When he arrived at the hotel he was covered with mud, dust and particles of grass. There is not a cut visible on him, nor a bruise, except a slight one on the cheek. He walks about and converses in a rational manner. Conductor Overbaugh, who was on the train, thinks that he is slightly deranged, and that in reality no persons on the train were attempting to obtain his money. It was a fearful leap, and railroad men cannot conjecture how he escaped instant death.—Poughkeepsie Correspondence of the New York Herald.

—There was a noteworthy, illustrative incident on a rail car out of Springfield, Mass., the other day. A big, black, but clean and well dressed "colored brother" entered, and sat down by one of the, at least formerly, "ruling race." The white man looked venom at the black one, and hissing out, "Do you suppose I am going to sit by a —— black nigger like you—let me get out!" squeezed by into the aisle, and took a vacant seat in front by the side of a small, Dale student from Springfield. The latter looked at the new comer, and saying, "Do you suppose I can sit by you, sir, let me pass out!" got up, and went back to the seat by the black man. The party of the first part grew pale with added feeling, and said, "Do you prefer to sit by a nigger?" "I prefer to sit by a gentleman." "Do you dare to say I am not a gentleman?" "A gentleman never swears, or insults a man because of his color." "You shall be taken care of, you impudent strippling." When the black brother, stalwart and suggestive, spoke in—"I will take care of him, sir." There ensued "a splendid passage of silence," and the car went on, and there was no assault and battery for the police court.

—The police of New Orleans have been waging war upon the "blind beggars," and it appears that, with few exceptions, this class of mendicants are professional imposters. The special vigilance against them, and the disclosures, have been brought about by a quarrel among the thieves. A "professional" stole a genuine blind boy from a blind beggar father, who had four of that litter; and being brought before Judge Gastivel for the abduction, that worthy magistrate patiently heard the criminations and recriminations of the parties, and then pronounced the "whole system of blind beggary one of the greatest outrages ever perpetrated upon the public." He, therefore, sentenced the accused, the accuser, and the boy, each to six months in the workhouse, in default of $1,000 bail each for good behavior.

A NATIONAL MEDICINE.

One can hardly pick up a newspaper or turn a street corner now-a-days that he does not find, staring him in the face, the announcement that Prof. So-and-so has just discovered a medicine which is a panacea for all the ills that flesh is, or may be heir to. These "wonderful" discoveries usually have an existence of a few months, then disappear from public notice. The reason of their sudden extinguishment is apparent. They were humbugs. At the outset all medicinal preparations have an equal chance for success, as all are equally unknown; but the chaff is soon winnowed from the grain by the practical test which an unprejudiced public applies to all things. There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any length of time. One of the few which we have now in mind, and which has been a long time familiar to nearly every household in the land, is the celebrated HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Their almost universal sale and use, and their emphatic endorsement from all portions of the country, compel the admission that they must be a specific for the ailments for which they are recommended. Letters before us attest their efficacy in diseases of the throat, bowels and liver. In that truly terrible complaint, dyspepsia, they are regarded as a sure cure. In Pittsburgh, where these Bitters are manufactured, their sale for home use is immense. This fact alone speaks volumes in their favor.—Extracts from the Muscatine (Iowa,) Courier, Feb. 7, 1867.

PINUS CANADENSIS.

A tree which is abundant in Canada, Nova Scotia, and the more northern parts of the New England States, and is also found in the elevated and mountainous regions of the Middle States, and abounds in medicinal virtues. Dr. Swett, of Boston, has prepared a medicine from the sweet inside bark of the pine tree, called POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND, which is one of rare value in all debilitated states of the kidneys. It acts like a charm in all diseases of mucous membranes, enabling them to regain their lost tone and energy. It will be found well adapted to all those diseases, where Buchu has been tried and failed. It is likewise well suited to chronic coughs, and an infallible specific for old and debilitated cases of asthma. Many persons who at first only took a bottle of this medicine, to try, afterwards came back and got a dozen, or half dozen, which effected radical cures of diseases of the bladder and kidney of years standing.

Diabetes, a disease that has been looked upon as among the incurables, is immediately relieved by it. Notice the certificate of Asa Goodnue, published some time ago.

The United States Dispensatory, speaking of the pine, says: "It is prescribed in leucorrhœa, gleet, and other diseases of the urinary passages; in piles and chronic inflammation or ulceration of the bowels, in chronic catarrhal affections, and in various forms of rheumatism." It is exceedingly valuable in all gravelly affections, bloody urine, and where there is red and white sediment. It can be taken without interruption to one's usual avocations; and instead of sickening, produces a bracing, healthy power of endurance and vigor. Price, $1 per bottle; six for $5. Ask for POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND. For sale by the gross, dozen or single bottle, at DR. KEYSER'S Great Medicine Store, 140 Wood street. ap20

CAPE MAY,
CAPE ISLAND.
Since the close of 1866 much enterprise has been displayed at this celebrated sea-shore resort. New and magnificent cottages have been erected; the Hotels have been remodeled; a fine park, with a well made one mile drive, has been inaugurated; and in all the essentials of a popular summer resort, a spirit of improvement is largely manifested.

The geographical position of Cape Island is in itself a popular feature, when properly understood—Situated at the extreme southern portion of the State, and occupying a neck of land at the confluence of the Delaware Bay with the Atlantic Ocean, it becomes entirely surrounded by salt water, hence favored by continual breezes from the sea.

The bluff furnishes a beautiful view of the Ocean, Delaware Bay, and picturesque back country, taking in Cape Henlopen distinctly at a distance of sixteen miles. The beach is acknowledged to surpass any other point upon the Atlantic coast, being of a smooth, compact sand which declines so gently to the surf that even a child can bathe with security.

Added to these attractions is the fact that the effect of the Gulf Stream upon this point renders the water comparatively warm—a point not to be overlooked by persons seeking health from ocean bathing.

The distance from Philadelphia to Cape Island is 81 miles by rail, and about the same distance by steamer down the Bay, and by either route the facilities for travel promise to be of the most satisfactory character. The Island has Hotel and boarding house accommodations for about ten thousand persons. The leading Hotels are the Columbia House, with GEORGE J. BOLTON as proprietor; Congress Hall, with J. F. CAKE as proprietor, and United States, with WEST & MILLER as proprietors, all under the management of gentlemen who have well established reputations as hotel men.

TOILET TRADE
CARBON SOAP.
MARK WASHING
WARRANTED always uniform in quality, and made from the purest materials. If not satisfactory, the purchase money, in all cases, will cheerfully be refunded. Try it and be convinced.
The CARBON SOAP is made similar to that of most all other
Best Standard Soap,
But in addition there has been a new and valuable chemical compound added in the finish, by which all that hardness so peculiar to other soap is entirely removed. The coarsest as well as the finest fabric can be washed with it and remain soft and glossy as new. One pound is equal to three pounds of ordinary Soap. And here lies its chief excellence over all other soap: it is simple, requiring no extensive or complicated direction for using. For bathing purposes it is certainly a luxury, leaving the skin soft and healthy, and can be safely used in washing the tenderest infant. For all cleaning and cleansing purposes it is without a rival.
Believing it to be SUPERIOR, and that it will be duly appreciated by a discriminating public, I desire it to stand upon its merits alone.
It contains no PETROLEUM, or any foreign substance; nothing of the kind.

THE COURTS.

District Court.

The Argument List in this Court will be taken up to-day at 9 o'clock, Judges Williams and Hampton on the Bench.

Judgment Day in the Court of Quarter Sessions.

Saturday was devoted by Judge Mellon almost exclusively to pronouncing judgment in criminal cases tried so far during present term of the Quarter Sessions. While it may be proper, subsequent to trial, for counsel to adduce matters in mitigation of sentence, we submit whether the Court, as on Saturday, should occupy so much time in this way, or enter into what might be properly termed a re-trial of the cases by the hearing of evidence which might as well have been adduced before the jury. The Court is generous, does not insist on a rigid compliance with its rules, and counsel take advantage of this generosity. Verdicts of juries the Judges are loth to disturb, and they do not interfere with them save upon pretty clear demonstration that error has been committed in applying the law or the evidence. Counsel pay less respect to them, and frequently move for new trials simultaneously with the recording of the finding, generally with no other view than to delay sentence. It is but just to say that this "indecent haste" is not a characteristic of leading members of the bar, but confined to those just branching out in the profession, and who have not yet become well-balanced in their elevation. It is human to err, juries as well as the Court may make mistakes; attorneys may be honest in their heated and strenuous advocacy of their clients, but we believe, express it as our opinion, that justice would be better administered if "rules of court" were better observed, and less time wasted in the hearing of extraneous matters. The Court might, and should, rebuke the indecorous, almost insolent manner of some advocates, particularly when they go so far outside the bounds of propriety as to denounce witnesses as "perjured scoundrels," and accuse officers of the law of crimes in language which would be scarcely excusable if spoken on the trial of the parties for the offenses. We now speak generally. We have been tempted, on several occasions recently, to particularize.

THE HIGHWAY ROBBERS.

John Sinclair and James Pendar, convicted of the highway robbery committed on Duquesne Way one night last week, having knocked down and robbed a citizen of Venango county, were first brought out for sentence. Both are residents of the city. Pendar is twenty-three years of age. A number of persons testified to the excellent character he sustained for industry and honesty. It was stated he was remarkably steady in his employment, as a river man, and that at the time of his arrest he had between $100 and $200 coming to him as wages. His father, a highly respectable citizen, stated that the present was the first disgrace which had befallen his family, during a residence in the city since 1847. It was urged in behalf of the prisoner (Pendar) that he was drunk on the night of the robbery, and that he could not realize the fact of his guilt. Judge Mellon said the testimony as to his good character, and the statement of his aged father, was much in his favor, and indicated that he was not a "professional thief." But the record showed he was guilty of one of the most serious offences known to the law, and the case had passed to that stage when the Court could not consider whether he was guilty or not. The jury had said he was guilty. He may have been intoxicated, but the law made that no excuse. Whatever might be urged in his behalf would only be proper in an application for executive clemency. He had offended the law and must undergo the punishment due all offenders. His Honor sentenced Pender to undergo four years imprisonment in the Penitentiary.

Sentence in the case of Sinclair was deferred by request until next Saturday, his friends desiring to make further inquiry into the circumstances of the robbery.

THE FINDLEY TOWNSHIP CASE.

David Davis and his wife Mary A., and Edward Bendlow, were convicted of forcible entry and assault and battery, on complaint of Margaret Burns and Catharine Shaffer, the difficulty arising out of a claim to the possession of a house in Findley township. Davis and his wife, who were convicted of the forcible entry, were sentenced to pay a fine of five dollars and the costs, and Edward Bendlow, for the assault and battery, to pay a fine of ten dollars and costs.

A BIGAMIST SENTENCED.

William McCleery was convicted of having taken as a wife Mary Ellen Campbell, whilst he had a wife in full life, in the person of Josephine Gray, whom he married in Washington county. Witnesses were produced to show that at the time of the second marriage McCleery was oblivious from drink, and did not know what he was taking place—that the second wife had the "bounty fever," was anxious to get McCleery's bounty money, as he was about enlisting in the army, and that she did get and spend the major portion of six hundred dollars. His counsel dwelt on the intoxication—said marriage was a civil contract—that a contract with a lunatic would not hold good, and that as it had been shown the defendant was so drunk as not to know what he was doing at the time of the second marriage, he should have a new trial—that it must be believed he wilfully offended before he could be properly convicted of bigamy, and the proof of the intoxication was, thought the counsel, conclusive on this point. Col. Duff, the District Attorney, who had not interfered during this rather extraordinary demonstration in behalf of the accused, finally remarked to the Court that on the trial the Minister who had performed the marriage ceremony testified that McCleery was drunk, but not to such and extent as not to know what he was about, else the Minister, (as he states,) would not have married him. Furthermore, the testimony now offered, which he regarded as almost entirely irrevelant, did not bear out the presumption that McCleery was so effectually drunk as to be considered in the light of a lunatic. Judge Mellon said admitting all to be true that was now alleged, it did not alter the case, and the jury, he thought, had they heard this additional testimony, would not have done their duty if they had acquitted—for the fact could not be disguised that the defendant had enticed Miss Campbell from her home, took her among his relatives, introduced her, and spoke of the marriage as going to take place. The defendant, as he desired, was permitted to make a statement, and having been heard to the end with much impatience, was then sentenced to pay a fine of $100, and to undergo an imprisonment of one year in the Penitentiary.

THE FORTUNE TELLING CASE.

James Keown and Jane his wife, of South Pittsburgh, were convicted of "fortune telling." It was urged that the offence charged was one of those in which the husband could not be merged with the wife, as in a case of keeping a "disorderly house," the wife being regarded as the head of the house. Judge Mellon said the practice of "fortune telling" was productive of serious evil, and the sooner the people who engaged in it learned that they would be punished for it, the better for the community. It was Mr. Keown's business to know what kind of a house his wife kept, whether she told fortunes or not, and the point urged by counsel could have no weight. The defendants were sentenced to pay a fine of ten dollars and the costs.

BIRMINGHAM CUTTING CASE.

Charles Carson, the young man convicted of feloniously stabbing James Munn, in Birmingham, in March last, was next sentenced. In his case there exists no doubt of guilt. The prisoner, in his statement to the Court, gave a detailed account of the disturbance up to the point of time when the stabbing took place, when, as he remarked, he had nothing further to say. His father, a highly esteemed citizen of Birmingham, was present, and Judge Mellon having referred to a former cutting affray in which his son was engaged, (a trial having been avoided by the accused going into the army,) said he had fully investigated that matter, and was entirely satisfied his son was innocent of the cutting. In regard to the present case his son had made a statement to him about the cutting, but it seemed he had nothing now to say. Mr. C. said he had been considerably depressed about the occurrence, and for this reason, perhaps, had not given the case that attention which he should have done. Judge Mellon expressed his gratification to hear the statement of Mr. Carson about the former case, and would take it into consideration. The prisoner was sentenced to four years imprisonment in the Penitentiary.

THE THRICE TRIED.

Theodore Parker Lyman, who was thrice tried for larceny, and has been in jail for some nine months, was on the list of the culprits brought out to receive their doom. We have written so much about his case that our readers must know sufficiently concerning it, and we will now do nothing more than record his sentence, viz: Six months in the county jail.

SENT TO THE REFUGE.

Ernest Zimmerman, yet a minor, was indicted for burglary, in entering the Red Lion Hotel bar and taking therefrom a revolver, but the jury, perhaps in consideration of his age, convicted him of the less serious offense of larceny. It being his first offense, so far as appeared, the Court thought him not beyond reformation, from representations made in his behalf, and ordered his consignment to the House of Refuge, there to be kept, &c., as the law directs.

THE LAWRENCEVILLE BURGLARY.

In the case of Frederick J. Guth, indicted for burglary, in robbing the house of Adam Streib, in Lawrenceville, the jury rendered a verdict of guilty of larceny.

A NEW PANEL

Of jurors will be in attendance on the Court to-day.

Misdemeanor.—Robert Edger, livery stable keeper, in East Birmingham, made information before Alderman McMasters against Peter Ackerman, charging him with recklessly and maliciously abusing a hired horse. The prosecutor alleges that on the twenty-third day of May last the defendent hired from him a horse and buggy, and that he abused the horse, and broke the buggy to pieces by reckless driving. A warrant was issued and the defendant arrested and held for a hearing at ten o'clock this morning. There was an Act of Assembly passed August 23d, 1862, for the protection of livery stable keepers in Allegheny county, which makes it a penal offence to abuse livery stock.

Drew vs. McGinnis.—Francis Drew, charges Daniel McGinnis with surety of the Peace, before Alderman McMasters, who issued a warrant for the accused. The parties work at Lippencott's axe factory, Drew working "under instructions" with McGinnis, and Drew alleges that he went to McGinnis one day last week, and asked him for the wages that were due him, whereupon McGinnis ordered him to leave, and threatened to knock his teeth down his throat. He wants his money and is afraid to ask for it.

Larceny.—Henry Swinesberg, charged before Justice Ammon, of East Birmingham, on oath of A. Alsum, with stealing a coat, was held in five hundred dollars bail for his appearance at Court. Alsum resides in East Birmingham, and he alleges that Swinesberg went into his house on Friday night last and took therefrom a coat, valued at twenty dollars. "Thou shouldest give him thy cloak also," neighbor.

Compromised.—Eliza Ruebel charged Peter Greisman with assault and battery, before Justice Ammon. She alleged that Griesman struck her on the head with his fist. A warrant was issued, and the defendant arrested, and brought before the Justice, when the matter was settled by the defendant paying costs. The parties reside in East Birmingham.

Disorderly Conduct.—Elizabeth Lipp made information before Justice Ammon, of East Birmingham, against Catherine Kulbskoff, charging her with disorderly conduct. The deponent alleges that Catherine abused her and called her husband indecent names. The defendant was fined one dollar and costs, and upon payment of the sum was discharged.

The number of scholars enrolled in Pennsylvania equals the population of Wisconsin.

Filthy Postal Currency.

An exchange remarks: It is understood that the authorities at Washington are affording facilities for the exchange of the nickle cents issued during a few years past for the new five cent coinage—a very proper change, and one with which everybody will be contented. But we have no doubt we are speaking the sentiments of the millions of American citizens in saying that the substitution of the new coins for the five and ten cent shinplaster currency would be a still more desirable improvement. It is time that this rotten, filthy stuff were displaced by something, and it would be difficult to find anything more objectionable either in a sanitary, aesthetic, or pecuniary point of view than the "filthy rags" which, like the self-righteousness of the Pharisees, has so long passed current in place of genuine coin. In the first place, the material is too easily counterfeited. It is probable that fully one half of the postal currency now in circulation is bogus, and though it is more noticed in twenty-five and fifty cent pieces, there is no reason to suppose that the latter are more numerously imitated than smaller pieces.

In the second place, it is a vehicle for communicating all manner of uncleanliness. The paper currency thrown down on the counter of a saloon and saturated with lager beer, bye-and-bye finds its way into the mouth of some fellow who chews tobacco. Then it gets into the greasy pocket of a mendicant, where it becomes more full of life than the pocket is of money. Then it circulates in street cars and is held by people afflicted perhaps with small-pox, cholera and more loathsome diseases, is saturated with all kinds of noxious emanations from the thousands of bodies impure, and pure by comparison with that with which it comes in contact, till human grease and inhuman filth have obliterated every trace of the pictures which were designed to make immortal the countenances of certain worthies, and even then we cannot get rid of it. During the war such stuff might be tolerated, but now it is a nuisance and a burning sin. Do let us have some relief from the pesteriferous presence of this dilapidated, stinking miasmatic postal currency. Give us coins of any value, or of no value at all, in preference to such paper. We question whether it would not be better even to resort to milk tickets, railroad tickets, lumps of coal, brass buttons, oyster shells, or any other substitutes for money, such as obtained in the earlier days of the war, than to put up with such stuff as that now in circulation. The bosses of the Treasury Department secured for themselves a questionable immortality when they imprinted their physiognomies on the aforesaid paper. They will engrave their names far more durably in the hearts of the citizens if they will now devise some means of ridding us of this paper nuisance.

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect safety.

TWO TABLE SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

The Pittsburgh Gazette

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, June 15, 1867.

The New York stock quotations to-day, as received by Mr. P. S. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 137¾@137¾; Eighty one bonds, 112⅝; Five Twenties, 1862, 110⅝; Five Twenties, 1864, 106¾; Five Twenties, 1865, 107¼; 1865 Consols, 109⅝; Seven Thirties, 105⅛@105⅞; Ten Forties, 100⅜; Michigan Southern Railroad, 68⅝; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 76⅝; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago, 97; Erie, 60¾; Chicago and Northwestern, 35⅝; Chicago and Northwestern preferred 59⅝; New York Central, 101⅝; Reading, 103⅝; Western Union Telegraph, 44⅝; Gregory, 5.85; Corydon, 1,20; Quartz Hill, 1.47; Smith & Parmerlee, 4,20.

Our prediction, a few days ago, that on Saturday stocks could be bought cheaper than at the beginning of the week, is verified by the above quotations. It will take all next week before the bulk of the June interest is disbursed by the Treasury, and consequently, the effects will not be felt on the money market for several days to come. The market, though lower, is yet very firm for all the Western shares. The Northwestern, common and preferred, are now the leading speculative stock. The company is deep in debt, but the receipts are increasing, and what seemed to be a worthless stock six months ago, may be bought in for a good investment before another year. Fort Wayne, New York Central and Erie are all dull and too bulky to be managed by an impoverish clique of operators. Coal and Mining shares are entirely forsaken by the regular operators, and as investments are too uncertain to tempt capitalists, even at the present low prices.

Government bonds are all higher; the advance is about ½ per cent. within two days, with an advancing tendency. The conversion of Seven-thirties of the first issue is progressing slowly; those who delayed in the exchange have lost about twelve dollars on every thousand dollar bond. Gold remained firm all day at 137⅝; it seems that if left alone by cliques it will always seek its own level, and the present quotation seems to be about its true value.

Local stocks are very dull and cannot be sold except by auctioneering; every one fears to make offers, thinking it might be too much. One per cent. a month is now a common rate for good short paper.

Closing quotations received by James T. Brady:

U. S. Sixes, 1881	112⅞
" 5-20s, 1862	110¾
" " 1864	106¾
" " 1865	107
" 10-40s	100⅜
" Consols	109⅝
August 7-30s	10[illegible]
June 7-30s	105½
July 7-30s	105⅝
Dec. Compounds, 1864	117
Gold	137½
Silver	131½

—The Sub-Treasury is now converting August seven-thirty notes into five-twenties of the new issue of 1865, by allowing the interest on the former up to the first of July, and delivering bonds with the July coupon cut off.

—Mr. Colgate, well-known in Wall street for his large dealings in gold and other securities, has addressed a letter to the Assistant Treasurer, urging the adoption of some staple financial policy, and suggesting the following as the basis for such a system:

The substitution of legal-tender notes for the National bank notes, the Treasury to purchase the bonds deposited as security at a premium, and assume the payment of the outstanding notes, the latter to be deducted from the price of the bonds, and to be exchanged for greenbacks on presentation.

The reduction of the paper circulation $4,000,000 per month, beginning May 1, 1868, until the outstanding volume is reduced to the minimum of $[illegible] exclusively of fractional currency. This would continue the contraction until about 1872.

—The following is a list of the National banks that have failed and are now in the hands of receivers, with the amount of circulating notes issued to each:

First National, Attica, N. Y.	$45,000
Merchants' Nat., Washington, D. C.	180,000
Venango Nat., Franklin, Pa	85,000
Tennessee Nat., Memphis, Tenn.	90,000
First Nat., Newton, Mass.	120,000
First Nat., Selma, Ala	85,000
First Nat., New Orleans, La	180,000

In addition to these, two banks have taken up their bonds and deposited lawful money in the United States Treasury to the amount of outstanding circulation, viz: First National, Carondolet, New Orleans, $25,500; First National, Columbia, New Orleans, $11,990—making a total of $[illegible] reverting to the Government upon the return and destruction of which an equal amount of circulation will be at the disposal of the Comptroller of the currency for distribution.

Weekly Review of the New York Wholesale Market.

NEW YORK, June 16.—There has been considerable excitement and depression in the breadstuffs and provision markets during the week, and prices have declined rapidly in most kinds of flour. There is somewhat of a panic in provisions, and the falling off is very great and rapid. All grades of flour declined, and that not fresh ground has been pressed on the market at very irregular rates. The current prices at the close show a decline of 50@75c, with a strong disposition to realize. The warm weather and large arrivals at the Lake ports have exerted a depressing influence. Wheat has been very irregular; Spring declined 5@10c, and at the close common qualities were very heavy and unsaleable. California Wheat declined rapidly in the week; since then, under more active demand, it has recovered, and closed tame at the improvement. We have added somewhat to our our stock of this description, and with large arrivals in prospect and favorable accounts of the growing crops, holders sell freely, but millers operate with great caution during the declining tendency of the flour market. Barley offered freely and in limited demand; declined about 5c and closed tame. Malt firm and in fair demand at the recent improvement. Oats quiet, declining up to Thursday when it was in more active demand, prices being improved 2@3c. Since then they yielded slightly and closed flat at an advance. Stock is moderate, but the larger arrivals at lake ports than anticipated, check any speculative inclination. Rye declined materially, but more was doing at the close. Corn has been in very active request, and fluctuations rapidly influenced by the rapid decline and large receipts at Chicago. Variable news from Europe, and the sudden fluctuations in freights caused market to close very tame, much corn arriving out of order and unfit for shipment. Business for export has fallen off materially as compared with last month. Pork and Beef declined $1.50; market closing tame at the decline, and beef ruled very firm with a fair inquiry. Stock very light. Cut meats sold readily and at lower prices. Bacon has been in moderate demand, chiefly for home trade, at about the former prices. Lard freely offered and declined; at the concession a large business was doing. Cheese arrived freely and the prices declined at the close. Butter fluctuated; receipts falling off. There is more steadiness and a good inquiry for prime Coffee, and the prices improved slightly at the close, with an upward tendency; common quality ruled dull and in favor of the buyer. There is a demand for Molasses at full prices but they favored the buyer at the close. There is a good demand for raw Sugars, chiefly by the home trade holders; very firm at the closing. Petroleum in moderate request, closing dull and heavy; refined ruled steady, but at the close the tendency was rather downward.

Baltimore Market.

BALTIMORE, June 15.—Coffee dull. Sugar firm but inactive; fair to good refining 11@11¼c. Flour—nothing doing and the market is very weak. Wheat—medium and prime Maryland $2,50@2,55. Corn—the market is better; sales of fair to prime white at $1,03@1,06; prime yellow $1,05. Oats—the market is better; sales at 67@75c. Provisions steady but quiet, except bacon, which is in demand for southern orders, but the quotation is without change. Whisky, in bond, $2,30@2,35.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, June 15, 1866.

The general markets have been dull and unsettled during the past week, and there is but little prospect at present of any improvement. The operations in Flour and Grain continue very light in the aggregate, which is owing to the drooping tendency, and both dealers and consumers are endeavoring to keep down stocks. There is a moderate jobbing demand for Provision and Groceries, without, however, any important change in prices.

GRAIN—There is nothing doing in Wheat or Barley, and there is but little in this market. Oats continue dull with a supply somewhat in excess of the demand, but prices are unchanged; small sales in store at 70. Corn is very dull here, notwithstanding it has improved somewhat in the east; we continue to quote prime shelled at 80c. Rye is quoted at $1,25@1,30—sale of 280 bush at $1,30.

FLOUR—Continues dull and weak with a drooping tendency, and the receipts continue liberal—mostly on commission, we presume. Fair to good Spring Wheat brands may be quoted at $11,50@12, and choice ditto at $12,25@12,50. Winter Wheat brands are selling at $13@13,50—choice, 14. Rye Flour is selling in a retail way at $9.

PROVISIONS—There is a continued fair demand for Bacon at 9¼ cents for Shoulders; 11½c for Ribbed, and 12¼c for Clear Sides, and 15½c@16c for Canvassed Sugar Cured Hams. Lard is quoted at 13c; Dried Beef at 23c@24c, for plain and canvassed, and Mess Pork at $22,50@23.

POTATOES—Continue quiet and the tendency is downward. We now quote Peach Blows in store at $1,25 to $1,30 per bushel. Receipts light, but the supply is fully up to the demand.

EGGS—The arrivals are increasing considerably, but, as yet, fresh packed still sell without much difficulty at 23c.

CHEESE—Is dull and unchanged—14c for Western Reserve, and 15@16c for Hamburg and Factory.

HAY—Is dull, with a drooping tendency, though without quotable change. Sales in lots, of 60 bales, medium quality, at $20 per ton. Strictly prime Timothy may be quoted at $24@25.

DRIED FRUIT—Dull and unchanged; small sales in store at 6@7c for Apples, and 10@12c for Peaches.

OIL—Lard Oil is quoted at 83@84c for No. 2, and No. 1 at $1,05@1,06.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, June 15, 1867.

CRUDE—The operations during the week have been unusually large, in the aggregate, reaching, if not exceeding, 50,000 bbls, but the market, notwithstanding, is in a very unhealthy condition, these transactions being almost entirely speculative, and mainly for future delivery. The great proportion of the sales during the week were made by speculators, and some of the deliveries run eighteen months ahead, at the option of the buyer—others during the balance of the present year. There is but very little inquiry for spot oil, but as the offerings are very light, prices are pretty well maintained, sales having been made during the week at 6¾@7c. For July and August there were several sales at 7¼c, and for the balance of the year, buyers option, at 8c. For all of 1868, buyer's option, several heavy operations were effected, including two lots of 10,000 bbls each, and all at 12½c. To-day, it was reported that the market for 1868 was a little firmer, with buyers at 12½c, and but few, if any, sellers below 13c. The latest advices from Oil City report the market very dull, and as navigation is suspended, there is but little prospect of any immediate improvement.

REFINED—There has also been a fair business done in bonded oil during the past week, and while the sales were unusually large, prices, compared with last week, have still further declined. Spot oil may be fairly quoted at 19½c for prime light straw to white, and 21½c for standard white—sale of 2000 bbls—on Friday evening—standard white, for June, at 21c. According to these figures, it is claimed that prime light straw to white is only worth five and a half cents per gallon, in bulk, after deducting barrels, cost of refining and freight. If these calculations are correct, as we have every reason to believe they are, the only course left for our refiners is to close up their works, as they cannot manufacture oil at present prices without sustaining a positive loss.

ARRIVALS—The following arrivals of oil were reported to-day:

Lockart & Frew	[illegible]	Kier, Moore & Co.	62

Financial Matters in New York.

Gold Closed at 137¾.

NEW YORK, June 15, 1867.

GOLD AND MONEY.

Money easy and steady and freely offered at 5@6 per cent on call. In the discount market there is very little currency for any but prime paper, which passes at 7@7½. The Assistant Treasurer is buying the second and third series of 7-30 notes and redeeming June compound notes, but these obligations come in slowly. The government is not selling gold or bonds.

BANK STATEMENT.

The Express says the bank statement is favorable and shows plainly that the banks have entirely liquidated their indebtedness with the government, and the flow of currency is once more turned towards bank vaults. Loans, $4,500,000; specie, $3,000,000; deposits, $4,400,000, and legal tenders have increased $2,000,000. Sterling quiet and unchanged. Gold steady; opened at 137; advanced to 137¾; and closed at 137@137¼. Export to-day, $1,394,861. Cash gold scarce; loans made from 3 per cent in favor of the lender to one thirty, second premium.

GOVERNMENTS.

Opened active and higher, closing strong and in good demand: Registered Sixes of '81, 108⅜@109; do Coupons 112⅞@113; Five-twenties registered of '62, 106 1-8@107; Coupons of '62, 110 3-8; do '64, 106⅜@107; do of '65, 107@107 1-8; do new, 109⅛@109⅜; August Seven-thirties, 106 1-8@106 3-8; June and July, 106@106 1-8.

REMARKS.

Stocks opened higher. The market was oversold yesterday, and a reaction was natural, in view of the fact that the large amount of shorts covered prices. More firmer at the one o'clock call, but was a fraction lower thereafter, and continued steady though quiet to the close.

M.—Ohio Certificates, 24⅜@24½; Canton, 43¾@44; Boston Water Power, 23⅜@24; Cumberland, 30⅝@31; Quicksilver, 27@28; Mariposa, 7¾@8; do. preferred, 19⅛@19¼; Western Union Telegraph, 44⅝@45; Pacific Mail, 139¼@139⅜; Atlantic, 116⅛@116½; New York Central, 101⅝@101¾; Erie, 60⅞@61; do. preferred, 64@64½; Hudson, 109⅝@109¾; Reading, 106@107; Michigan Central, 113@113¼; Michigan Southern, 68⅝@68¾; Illinois Central, 120¾; Pittsburgh, 76⅝; Toledo, 119⅛@119¼; Rock Island, 90¾@90⅞; Northwestern, 35⅝@35⅞; do. preferred, 59⅝@59¾; Fort Wayne, 97@97¼.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily at this point, with about three feet in the channel last evening. The weather yesterday was cloudy and hot with several heavy showers of rain; these showers, while they lay the dust, purify the atmosphere and help vegitation, do not make any impression on the river.

There has been no arrivals since the Belle on Saturday morning. The Glendale is due here to-day, and the Argosy will probably arrive tomorrow. The Lorena, from St. Louis, is also about due. It is more than probable that these boats will all be delayed sometime by low water.

Capt. W. B. Donaldson, of the famous Great Republic, is here on a visit to his family. He stopped off the Republic at Cairo on her last up trip.

The Belle got in from Cincinnati early on Saturday morning, with a good trip, and cleared again in the evening with about all the freight she could take. The Silver Cloud No. 2 left for St. Louis on Saturday evening, with all the freight she could take on both boat and barge.

Capt. Isaac Whittaker arrived here from St. Louis on Friday on a visit to his family. His boat, the Centralia, left for the mountains on Wednesday night last. He expects the Guidon back from Fort Benton in two or three weeks.

There was a fair show of business at the landing on Saturday, taking everything into consideration, and freights were moderately plenty, both the Silver Cloud and Belle getting all they could take on the water.

We clip the following from the Louisville Democrat, of the 12th: Some chaps about Cairo a few days ago caught a man "half-seas over," and, and placing him in an old dilapidated skiff, turned it loose upon the raging billows of the Father of Waters. The man in the skiff took it as a joke, and laid down in the bottom of it and went to sleep. He had floated about eight miles down the river, when the towboat A. J. Baker, with a tow of empty barges, coming up, ran over the skiff and man. The boat was stopped, the man rescued, and the skiff let go. Cairo must be a hard place.

The Cairo Democrat, of the 12th, furnishes the following: The Belle Memphis has been doing some very fast traveling. She arrived here yesterday only twenty hours out from Memphis. For one half the distance, or while her Pittsburgh coal lasted, she made fully fifteen miles per hour. Some of these times she will "let loose" and beat the J. M. White's time.

The Evansville Journal, of Wednesday, says: A delegation of gentlemen from Carmi, Illinois, were in the city yesterday, to consult with the business men of the city relative to the enterprise a-foot to improve the navigation of Little Wabash river. A meeting was held last night, where a number of our most enterprising merchants met the delegation from Illinois, and after a free consultation, a subscription was opened, and $1000 was at once subscribed and a much larger amount pledged.

Capt. J. B. Archer and Capt. Joe McCullough, of the Liberty No. 2; Capt. D. R. Powell, Secretary of the St. Louis Wrecking Co.; Capt. J. L. Shallcross, Inspector of Steamboats at Louisville for Underwriters; Captain Henry Adkins, Inspector of Steamboats at St. Louis for Underwriters, were in the city yesterday. They came here to arrange the matter of awarding compensation to the Saint Louis Wrecking Company, for raising the Liberty No. 2. The following committee was re-elected, viz: J. D. Palmer, Henry Adkins and Capt. R. F. Davidson; and after thoroughly discussing the subject, the sum of $9,433 was agreed upon.—Cin. Gazette.

A private dispatch from Omaha received at St. Louis announces the arrival there of the steamer Ozzy Chance, eight days from Fort Benton. The first of the return fleet brings half a million dollars in treasure, furs, pelts, &c. No trouble from Indians either going or coming.

It is said that Mr. Wm. McPherson has closed the contracts with Prime Emerson, of the Carondelet Marine Railway, for the construction of a new hull for the machinery of the Baltic. The hull will be 280 feet long, with a depth of hold of 8½ feet. The new boat will be ready for fall business.

Wednesday's New Albany Commercial says: The work of wrecking the Atlantic, and transferring her machinery and cabin to the new Dexter, commenced yesterday. The Dexter will be completed in eight weeks. The work is being done at the foot of Fourth street, in this city.

The second mate of the Upper Mississippi river steamer Northern Belle was killed on Tuesday last. While hoisting a skiff on board, the fastenings gave way, and the skiff fell, striking him on the head and producing instant death. His life was insured for $2,000.

The Dubuque Herald records the following: A new wood boat, owned by a German, arrived at Galena last Friday, loaded with wood, and on Sunday was laying in the river opposite the Custom House. During Sunday night a villain by some means placed a torpedo under the boat, with the evident intention of destroying her and killing her owner, who was sleeping on board alone. An explosion took place at two o'clock Monday morning, blowing the bottom out of the boat, and throwing her partly out of the water. The owner escaped uninjured. Why the perpetrator was led to the commission of such a crime, or who he is, is shrouded in mystery.

The same paper, of Tuesday, also says: The Itasca and Hawkeye have had a "brush." Both boats left St. Paul about three o'clock Sunday afternoon, the Hawkeye in advance. Captain Webb received orders to give her a trial, and did so successfully. The Itasca made twenty-three landings, besides towing a barge of wheat from Hastings to La Crosse, and left the Hawkeye out of sight at Prescott, arriving here in twenty-four hours from St. Paul. She lay to a couple of hours at La Crosse, and had rough weather, with rain and total darkness Sunday night. The Hawkeye arrived at ten o'clock last evening—seven hours behind.

A St. Louis telegram to the Cincinnati Commercial, under date of Thursday, gives the following particulars in regard to the Gov. Sharkey disaster:

Captain Turton, of the Sharkey, in his account of the disaster, to the agent of underwriters, states that, having discovered that he had more freight than he wanted, he left four hundred sacks of corn and a lot of Government freight. His boat was pretty heavily loaded, and as soon as he had got backed, and rounded out into the river, he discovered that she was in danger, and listed over with one guard in the water. He immediately went down in the hold, and found the water running in quite freely through the decks whereupon he gave orders to the pilot to round to, and land her alongside of a barge that was lying just below the lower ferry. While this was being done a large number of men on board, becoming aware of the danger, rushed to the side of the boat nearest the shore, thereby causing the boat to careen, and the water to run more rapidly into the hold.

As the boat neared the barge there was a general rush to escape from danger, but before one-third of them could jump from the Sharkey to the barge, the former drifted out into the stream and floated down. It now became evident to all on board that the boat was rapidly sinking. Many jumped overboard with such means of preservation as they could secure in the shape of plank timber, &c. When the boat passed the sectional docks nothing was visible above water save the hurricane roof to which clung, perhaps, a hundred men, hoping by their cries to attract attention of some one who could render aid to them. Several yawls and skiffs, belonging to steamers laid up along shore, put out rapidly to their assistance. Nineteen men and one women were thus picked up and safely landed. The loss of life is not known and probably never will be. The body of the cabin boy is the only one recovered. The clerk and engineer are missing and supposed to be lost. The boat lies on the bar, just above the arsenal, with nothing visible above water except the pilot house.

The Fanny Scott passing the wreck at daylight this morning, on her way to this port, went alongside and took off a woman who was standing in the water up to her chin, holding on the pilot house. The cause of the disaster, as generally believed by the survivors, was from overloading the boat, she having more freight than she could possibly navigate with. The opinion was freely expressed by many of those on board before she left the landing, that the vessel was altogether too heavily laden. One of the carpenters, on leaving his home in the afternoon, to go aboard, stated his apprehensions to his family, that the steamer would never safely reach her destination with the amount of freight on board.

GREAT REVOLUTION IN THE WINE TRADE OF THE UNITED STATES.—PURE CALIFORNIA CHAMPAGNE, made and prepared as if done in France, from pure California wine, and taking the place of imported Champagne.

The undersigned would call the attention of Wine Dealers and Hotel Keepers to the following letter, which may be a correct idea of the quality of their Wine:

"CONTINENTAL HOTEL, PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25th, 1866. "MESSRS. BOUCHER & CO.—Gentlemen: Having given your California Champagne a thorough test, we take pleasure in saying that we think it the best American Wine we have ever used. We shall at once place it on our bill of fare. Yours truly J. E. KINGSLEY & CO."

Call and try our California Champagne.
